

[re]stitch TAMPA

an international ideas competition

launching 09.01.11!

www.restitchtampa.org

University of South Florida
School of Architecture and Community Design
c/o [re]stitch TAMPA 4202 East Fowler Avenue, HMS 301
Tampa, Florida 33620

[re]stitchTAMPA to its Riverfront is an International Ideas competition for the city of Tampa which calls for proposals envisioning a new design for the city's civic realm through connective urban landscapes and landscape infrastructure which [re]stitches the city back to its river and brings the river back into the city. The findings of the competition will be a catalyst for the shaping of future development of the waterfront and the designing of public urban spaces of the city. The competition will be judged by a confirmed renowned International jury, as well as local stakeholders, and includes competition prize money.

Dates to Remember:

- 09/01/2011 Competition launch and on-line registration begins
- 12/2011 First stage competition due and First Stage winners announced
- 04/2012 Second stage competition due
- 04/2012 Awards ceremony

Sponsored, in part, by a grant from the National Endowment for the Arts-Access to Artistic Excellence and the University of South Florida School of Architecture and Community Design. Visit our website for updates.

launching 09.01.11!

